BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

First be reconciled to thy brother, and then come and offer thy gift.—Matt. 5:24.

Some colleges will not accept gifts from persons who have obtained their wealth dishonorably.
One thing sure we cannot square ourselves with God nor our conscience by paying a gift.

Another Tight Contest

Editorial — BY BRUCE BLOSSART

In all the guessing over whether or not President Eisenhower will run again, it has tended to be forgotten that a tight struggle will also be waged this year for control of the next Congress.

Democrats of course hold both houses now, and are favored to retain command. This is the experts' view even if Mr. Eisenhower stands for re-election and thus gives congressional candidates whatever boost they can get from his popularity.

Recapturing control is an especially difficult task for the Republicans in the Senate. To be sure, the Democrats' present edge is slim — 49 to 47. A net gain of one would switch control, if a Republican vice president had meantime been elected and was prepared to preside over the upper chamber.

But the battle prospects do not give advantage to the GOP. Thirty-three seats are at stake in November. Of these, eight are in the solid South and are conceded in advance to the Democrats. The other 25 represent the fighting ground.

Yet of the 25, only eight are now held by Democrats and thus subject to GOP capture. The other 17 are already Republican and must be defended. This gives the Democrats a bit more than twice as many chances as the Republicans have to pick up Senate seats in 1956.

To cite just a few spots out of the 17 where Republicans may have trouble keeping what they've got, look at Ohio, Pennsylvania, Maryland and Colorado.

In Ohio, Democratic Gov. Frank Lausche, who previously has announced as a favorite son candidate for president, entered the lists for his party's Senate nomination. In the likely event he wins it, he'll be a very tough opponent for GOP Senator Bender, who barely squeaked by in 1954.

Sen. James H. Duff, a vigorous 72 and a popular vote-getter, nevertheless may find the going hard if his Democratic adversary is, as expected, former Mayor Joseph Clark of Philadelphia.

Should ailing Senator Millikin, Colorado Republican, be unable to make a strong campaign, he would be severely handicapped in a state often touch-and-go. And Maryland's GOP Sen. John M. Butler at this stage is not even sure of his party's nomination. Whoever wins might encounter strong Democratic opposition in another spot hard for the Republicans to hold.

Democrats, on the other hand, may see their GOP opponents pressing particularly close in Washington, Oregon, New York and Nevada.

If Republican Governor Langlie ran in Washington against Senator Magnuson, the race would be a toss-up. If Oregon's Governor Patterson decided to buck Sen.
Wayne Morse, Democratic convert since his last election as a Republican, the latter would be no shoo-in. The Democratic incumbent is pulling out in Nevada, upping GOP chances. And New York's Democratic Senator Lehman can't be considered a cinch if the Republican candidate is a fairly big name.

Republicans have an uphill fight for Congress in 1956. They might scrape by in the Senate, only to discover they'd lost the House.
The country then would have a split legislature, an even less happy prospect than the present party division between Congress and the White House.

An average man has less than two minutes of useful consciousness at 30,000 feet. Without protection at 50,000 feet he would become unconscious in 11 to 17 seconds and in a few minutes die.

Middle East Issue May Be Test for 'Brink' Theory

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA)—The next test for Secretary of State John Foster Dulles' theory of "advancing to the brink of war" in order to preserve peace may come in the Middle East.

It may come in the decision on whether the United States should give arms to Israel.

If this action is taken, it will be an attempt to counterbalance the arms now being delivered to Egypt by Czechoslovakia, with the blessing of Soviet Russia.

If restoring the balance of power between Arabs and Jews maintains this uneasy peace, maybe well and good.

But if this action should inflame the Arab world and incite it to new attacks on Israel, then the "going to the brink" theory should be strictly for the ash can.

REPRESENTATIVES of 17 American Jewish organizations with an estimated three million members have just concluded a two-day conference of 300 delegates in Washington. Included were B'nai B'rith, Jewish War Vets, four organizations of Jewish congregations and ten Zionist groups.

Their purpose was obviously, if not openly, to bring pressure on President Eisenhower, the Departments of State and Defense and the entire U. S. Congress to support more arms aid for Israel. In an American election year, this is potent political pressure.

It should be noted that the resolutions passed by this conference do not represent the unanimous views of all American Jews.

One group, in particular, American Council for Judaism, Inc., opposes Zionism—the establishment of a Jewish religious state in Palestine. It deprecates the involvement of American organizations with the Jewish Agency, which is registered with the Department of Justice as a foreign agent, representing Israel.

THIS IS AN OLD FEUD between Jewish factions in America. Their fight has been going on ever since the question of a Jewish homeland has been considered.

The American Council claims that organized Zionism represents less than 10 per cent of America's estimated five million Jews, including men, women and children.

Offsetting this, the Zionists and the big organizations of both orthodox and reformed Jews claim that the American Council represents fewer than 17,000 American Jews.
It is classified as representing only wealthy Jews who fear that their positions as Americans in the American community will be impaired through involvement with Zionism.

The American Council for Judaism claims that no organization has the right to speak for all American Jews.

REPRESENTATIVES of the 17 organizations reply that they don't claim to be speaking for all. They say they speak only for themselves.
And they claim they have just as much right, as Americans, to support Israel as the Polish-Americans or the Lithuanian-Americans have the right to work and raise money for relief or liberation of their homelands.

Whatever the merits of this dispute, non-Jewish people who might prefer to keep out of religious strife have just as much right to resent any attempt to make it an American domestic political issue.

Behind the scenes, American diplomats are hard at work trying to bring peace between the Arabs and Jews. That is the number one objective of U. S. foreign policy in the Middle East.

Anything that stirs up the dispute instead of trying to quiet it down may be regarded as a disservice.

HTHS Thespians To Present 'Anne Of Green Gables'

"Anne of Green Gables," a play based on one of the most popular novels of all times, will be presented by the HTHS Thespians club, Feb. 11.

The modern dramatization of the 1908 novel retains all the elements that have made the novel so widely read. It breathes of youth, tenderness, humor, and warmth. It is the story of an imaginative orphan, Anne Shirley, who through a mistake comes to live with a lovable old bachelor and his stern sister.

She captures Matthew Cuthbert's heart immediately but crusty, old Marilla determines to return her to the orphanage. How Shirley finally wins even Marilla's affection and a home for herself is told with a wit and motion that are delightful.

"We chose 'Anne of Green Gables' for our annual production," said C. L. Bennett, HTHS drama director, "because of the simple appeal of the story and because it offers real challenges to our high school actors."

Revenue Service Accepting Applications For Tax Collector Posts

District Director H. J. White announced today that the Internal Revenue Service is taking applications to fill Tax Collector positions, and men who are interested should contact the Personnel Branch of his office at 621 E.
Adams Street, Springfield, Illinois, or their local Post Office for further information as to how to make application for these positions. It is anticipated that vacancies will be filled in Peoria, Champaign, Decatur, Mt. Vernon,
Alton, and East St. Louis.

The entrance salary for these positions is $3670 per year, and after six months of successful training the men will be promoted to $4525 per year.

Six Categories Of Assistance For SIU Students

CARBONDALE, Ill.—The financial assistance program at Southern Illinois university has been organized into six categories to help needy and deserving students complete their education.

According to Dr. Erwin D. Stasek, supervisor of scholarships and loans, help is available in the form of scholarships, awards, prizes, grants-in-aid, private agency awards, and student loan funds, each designed to fill a particular need.

In connection with this help program, the SIU Office of Student Affairs has prepared an estimate of typical expenses for a college year to guide prospective students in their financial planning.

The estimate, which covers three terms or quarters, lists average expenses at $900. This has been broken down into tuition and fees, $102 ($90 additional for out-of-state students); room rent, $144; food, $504; and miscellaneous expenses, $150.

Stasek said that students should not expect to meet all expenses through the help program, but should be prepared to supplement such assistance either through private funds or by the University work experience program.

Through the SIU work program efforts are directed toward placing students in part-time jobs in keeping with their abilities and qualifications as well as with respect to their financial needs.

Probers Hit Unnecessary Ag Dep't Costs

WASHINGTON 26 — Congressional investigators charged today that taxpayers have paid many extra millions into the farm program because the Agriculture Department has paid out unnecessary costs to middlemen.

Staff investigators for the House Agriculture Appropriations subcommittee said in a report the department is paying unnecessary costs to warehousemen and processors.

The staff investigators charged that the department recently left its own storage bins unused in the Midwest and shipped 17,027,778 bushels of corn to the West Coast where private warehousemen are being paid to store it.

They said they were advised this decision was made after "Oregon interests" brought pressure on the department. The shipping costs amounted to 43 to 63 cents a bushel, or about double what it would have cost to erect new government bins in the Midwest, the report said.

In an accompanying statement,
Subcommittee Chairman Jamie L.
Whitten (D-Miss) said "It is now fairly apparent . . . wasteful practices . . . and concessions to special groups" account for part of the $929,300,000 loss on the farm price support program in the fiscal year ended last June 30.

Social and Personal Items

MR. AND MRS. ROBERT HEMMERICH, who were married Saturday, Jan. 21, at 7 p. m. at the Raleigh Baptist church with the Rev. Howard Todd Taylor officiating. The bride is the former Darlene Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Jones of Raleigh. (Foster Studio Photo)

Miss Darlene Jones, Robert Hemmerich Wed At Raleigh Church

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Jones of Raleigh are announcing the marriage of their daughter, Darlene, to Robert Jones Hemmerich, son of Frank Hemmerich of Bergen, New York. The double ring wedding took place Saturday evening, Jan. 21, at 7 o'clock at the Raleigh Baptist church.

The Rev. Todd Taylor officiated.

The bride chose for her wedding a ballerina length gown of white lace designed with a scalloped neckline and three quarter length sleeves. She wore a white veil and carried a colonial bouquet of white shasta daisies.

Mrs. Sybil Lawrence, sister of the bride, was matron of honor, wearing a lavender net gown and carrying a bouquet of lavender and white chrysanthemums.

Bridesmaid was LaMonn Jones, niece of the bride, who wore a gown of blue net with a yellow and white chrysanthemum bouquet.

Elbert Jones, Harrisburg, served as best man, and Scott Lawrence, East St. Louis, was groomsmen.

The bride's mother was attired in a suit of blue with a pink hat and pink accessories. She wore a glamoia corsage.

Following the wedding a reception was held in the basement of the church.

The bride was formerly secretary for the Corps of Engineers in Washington, D. C., and the bridegroom is with the United States Air Force stationed at Andrews Air Force Base, Maryland.

General Baptist Golden Rule Circle Holds Social

The Golden Rule circle of the Sloan Street General Baptist church recently held its social which opened with the song "Amazing Grace."

The president, Mrs. Harvey Hicks, read the 15th chapter of Corinthians followed with united prayer and the song, "Blessed Assurance." Roll call was answered with a scripture verse preceded by an offering. Minutes of the last meeting were read by the secretary, Mrs. Chris Church.

The birthdays of Cora Church, Edna Spurlock, Pauline Donnellson and Lydia Winkelman were observed.

New officers for the coming year are as follows: President, Mrs. Loretta Hill; vice president and reporter, Mrs. Pauline Donnellson; secretary and treasurer, Mrs. Cora Church.

The following were present: Helen Hicks, Cora Church, Mary Lou Spurlock, Eunice Black, Wanda Lee, Loretta Hill, and Pauline Donnellson.

The closing song was "Blest Be the Tie That Binds" and prayer was by Mrs. Eunice Black. Hostess was Mrs. Chris Church. The next meeting will be Feb. 22.

Methodist W. S. C. S. Circles Meet With Respective Hostesses

The circles of the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the First Methodist church met on Wednesday afternoon. "The Methodist Primer" by Charles Claude Sealeman is the subject of the course being studied in all circles and the Government of the Church was the chapter discussed in the meetings.

Dorcas circle with Mrs. H. E. Jones, chairman, met at the home of Mrs. C. L. Petty, 121 South Vine, with fifteen members and one guest present. A new member, Mrs. Henry Robinson, was welcomed into the group. Devotion was given by Mrs. William Davidson and the lesson by Mrs. C. E. Wing. Mrs. Charles White and Mrs. Blanche Gable assisted the hostess.

Martha circle, Mrs. Donald O'Neal, chairman, met in the church parlor with 20 members present. The devotion was given by Mrs. C. M. Jones and the lesson by Mrs. Ruby Mitchell. Mrs. O'Neal was assisted in serving refreshments by Mrs. Ed Cummins and Mrs. C. L. Travis.

Naomi circle, Mrs. Lloyd Cox, chairman, met at the home of Mrs. H. O. Buell, 104 West Lincoln. There were fifteen present and one visitor, Mrs. J. A. Bottomley, chairman of the general society. The devotion was given by Mrs. O. E. Barter and Mrs. John Schwartz presented the lesson. Mrs. Bert Gramlich assisted in serving refreshments.

Mrs. E. Bishop Hill was hostess to the Ruth circle of which Mrs. Louise Walker is chairman. Nine members were present. The devotion was given by Mrs. Hill and Mrs. L. N. Davenport presented the lesson. Assistant hostesses were Mrs. Walker and Mrs. Bill Brashears.

Lydia circle, Mrs. J. O. Hall, chairman, met at the home of Mrs. Harry Horning, 319 East Walnut, with fourteen present.

The devotion was given by Mrs. Maurice Winn and the lesson was presented by Mrs. Walter Coker. Mrs. Horning was assisted in serving refreshments by Mrs. Charles Pierson and Mrs. George Davenport.

Announcement was made of the study course being taught by Miss Bernice Patterson on "Indian Americans." Miss Patterson taught the course at McKendree college school of missions this past summer and is now presenting it to the local society through the Missionary Education department of which Mrs. J. C. Gasaway is chairman.

The first of the series was held Monday night in the chapel at 7 p. m. and will continue for four consecutive Mondays. All members are urged to attend and visitors are welcome.

Joe Nelson, son of Mrs. Maud Nelson, 714 West Lincoln, who had been in Doctor's hospital, Carbonale, for three weeks, due to an infection and complications of a blood clot, was able to return to his home in Murphysboro Tuesday, and is reported improving from his recent critical condition.

C. D. (Champ) Glascock, who resided at 1318 Peazel street, suffered a coronary thrombosis while he and Mrs. Glascock were visiting with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Glow in Chicago, and he has been in the hospital there for three weeks. He is recovering nicely and probably will be moved to the home of his daughter soon. He is in St. Francis hospital, 12948 Gregory, Room 214, Blue Island, Ill.

The flower arrangement of the month was a tall vase of early pussy willows brought to the meeting by Miss Maud Barter.

Mrs. Durham presided at the refreshments table from which small cakes, mints, nuts and coffee were served. The lovely centerpiece of small yellow and white chrysanthemums was a gift of Mrs. Joseph M. Hart.

Minute traces of the atmosphere extend 600 miles from the earth. Among the 15,392 foreigners working in Norway as of July 1, 1955 were 484 Americans, 5,820 Danes, and 4,272 Swedes.

Calendar Of Meetings

Chapter Z, P. E. O., will meet at the home of Mrs. Kenneth Capel at 1 p. m. Friday.

The Susannah Wesley Sunday school class of the First Methodist church will have a potluck tonight at six o'clock at the home of Mrs. John Schwartz, 604 West Sloan. Roll call will be answered with a verse from the book of Matthew.

Majority of Autos Four Years Old

CHICAGO (AP)—If you are driving a car that's at least four years old, you have plenty of company.

The Chicago Motor Club said registration figures show that 43 per cent of American cars are from four to seven years old and 23 per cent are seven years or older.

About 22 per cent of the autos in the nation are two or three years old. New models less than one year old account for only 12 per cent of the total.

The club said the auto population of the United States has almost doubled during the past 10 years and that the end of 1955 registration should total more than 61,000,000 passenger cars, trucks and buses.

Experts Fail To Agree on Irvin Letter

PRINCETON, Ind. (AP)—A letter warning of "many other" murders switched the search for escaped mass killer Leslie Irvin to New York today, but handwriting and grammar experts could not agree whether the letter was authentic or a hoax.

The letter was revealed Wednesday by Mrs. Ruth Patton, a St. Louis, Mo., hotel coffee shop waitress, who told authorities last week she saw Irvin in the coffee shop the day after he vanished from Gibson County jail here. Mrs. Patton said she knew the 31-year-old gunman years ago.

Mrs. Patton got the letter Tuesday and turned it over to the FBI. It was dated Jan. 22 and postmarked Brooklyn, N. Y.

The letter told Mrs. Patton she would not be killed because she "delayed telling police about seeing me for 12 hours." It also said "there are many other people I intend to kill."

Paul Padgett, city controller at Evansville, took a look at a photograph of the letter and said it appeared to have been written by Irvin. Padgett is considered a handwriting expert.

But two Evansville experts on words and grammar called the letter a hoax and said sentence structure and grammar in the letter differed greatly with a letter Irvin wrote to his lawyer the day he escaped.

Armed Bandit Robs Mt. Vernon Store

MOUNT VERNON, Ill. (AP)—An armed bandit took about $100 in cash from a grocery Wednesday in what police described as the first armed robbery of consequence here in about two years.

Mrs. Kate Smith, about 60, the lone clerk, said the bandit took the money from the cash register and forced her into a back room before fleeing.

Mrs. Smith collapsed shortly after the robbery but later was reported in good condition.

Coty Summons Mollet To Be French Premier

PARIS — President Rene Coty called on Socialist party leader Guy Mollet tonight to become France's 22nd premier since the end of World War II.

The president summoned the 51-year-old former English teacher after two days of consultations with politicians in his efforts to decide who should try to form a new government.

Mollet has been favored since the national elections were held earlier this month. He and Pierre Mendes-France already had demanded power for their left-center republican front coalition.

Mollet is expected to ask the National Assembly for confirmation of his cabinet Tuesday if he is successful in lining up a new cabinet to restore stability to France's chaotic politics.

Mendes-France was expected to be his chief lieutenant, although his exact cabinet status was not certain. He may become foreign minister.

IBM Agrees to Halt Rental Of Its Machines

NEW YORK — International Business Machines Corp. made plans today to break up its $250-million a year business in renting tabulating machines and electronic computers and make the machines available for sale for the first time.

IBM agreed to the plan in a consent judgment filed last Wednesday in Federal District Court in New York. The action dissolved an anti-trust suit brought by the Department of Justice in which IBM was charged with controlling 90 per cent of the tabulating machine business in the United States.

The company also agreed to license its patents, service machines sold to others, make spare parts available, sell used machines to second hand dealers and provide technical training for repairmen and engineers.

Attorney General Herbert Brownell Jr. said the action would have "far-reaching effects upon major segments of the business world."

Thomas J. Watson Jr., president of IBM, said some of the terms of the decree were severe but others would have no effect on long standing company policies. He said the company's consent to the decree was not an admission of any violation of the anti-trust laws.

There was speculation that IBM agreed to settlement of the government suit to better its position in a $80 million civil anti-trust suit brought against it by the Sperry-Rand Corp.

Machines rented range from a manual card punch renting for about $250 a year to electronic brains which rent for $500,000 a year.

All the machines now rented must be offered to the lessees for purchase at a "reasonable" price under terms of the agreement.

Sen. George Supports Rigid Price Supports

WASHINGTON — Sen. Walter F. George (D-Ga.) threw his full support today behind a move to restore rigid price supports of 90 per cent of parity for basic farm crops.

George said the administration proposal for a "soil bank has some good features," but he doubted it would give immediate relief to farmers caught in a price-cost squeeze.

George expressed confidence that Congress will approve a return to the high rigid price supports. They would replace the present flexible supports ranging from 75 to 90 per cent of "fair income" parity.

"I don't see how Congress will fail to vote at least 90 per cent support prices," George told the United Press in an interview. "A prosperous agriculture is just as vital to national defense as munitions."

Democratic and Republican members of the Senate Agriculture committee predicted it will approve 90 per cent support prices for corn, cotton, rice, peanuts and wheat. The committee is drafting proposed new farm legislation.

Chairman Allen J. Ellender (D-La.) predicted the committee also will approve shifting a substantial part of the present huge farm surplus into a strategic stockpile on a rotating basis. Such "isolation" would eliminate the depressive effects of that part of the surplus on market prices, he said.

Ellender also proposed that the committee include in the overall farm bill an additional authorization of 250 million to 500 million dollars for government purchase of beef, pork and other perishable agricultural commodities when necessary to bolster sagging prices.

Current rising hog prices appeared likely to take some of the political heat off Agriculture Secretary Ezra T. Benson—at least temporarily—from a group of mid-western Republican congressmen who are clamoring for a government meat floor price under hogs and cattle. The group conferred with Benson Wednesday.

GOP, Democrats Announce Plans For Party Rallies

SPRINGFIELD — Both major Illinois parties today announced plans for rallies marking a formal opening of the 1956 campaigns.

Republicans will hold their annual Lincoln Day celebration at Springfield Feb. 11; Democrats announced a lunch here Jan. 31 to get their campaign underway.

The GOP Lincoln Day celebration is sponsored by the Republican State Central Committee. Leonard W. Hall, chairman of the Republican National Committee will be principal speaker.

State GOP chairman Morton H. Hollingsworth said U. S. Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, Pekin, a number of congressmen and all elected state officials are expected to attend the Lincoln Day dinner.

Hollingsworth said "attendance will be more on the basis of office than on the basis of candidacy."

A candidate must be endorsed by the Republican Party. State Republican Warren E. Wright's plans to oppose either Gov. William G. Stratton or Secretary of State Charles F. Carpenter in the April 10 primary and the fact that all three are being invited to the dinner.

State Rep. Richard Stengel, Rock Island, Democratic candidate for U. S. senator, and Cook County Treasurer Herbert C. Paschen, the organization's pick for governor, will be on deck.

That night, the top candidates for state offices will appear before a meeting of the Sangamon County Democratic organization.

After that, the program calls for independent appearances by the candidates on the first three days of each week until the April 10 primary. They will make joint appearances on the last three days of the week.

Plans call for the state to be at Danville at noon Feb. 1, at Watseka that night, at Murphysboro Feb. 16, and at Benton and Vienna Feb. 17.

Congressmen Ask Aid for Distress Areas

WASHINGTON — House and Senate officials from Illinois, Minnesota and Pennsylvania today urged Congress to approve legislation aimed at aiding economically distressed areas.

A Senate Labor subcommittee headed by Democratic Sen. Paul Douglas said Illinois heard testimony from Congressman Melvin Price (D-Ill.), Charles W. Vursell (R-Ill.) and James E. Van Zandt (R-Pa.).

Major George D. Johnson of Duluth, Minn., also testified that a loan fund provision in the pending legislation could be the "salvage" of his city.

Johnson said much of Duluth's economy had been "satellite" and dependent on the iron mining industry, and a "really sound, stable, dependable manufacturing base has failed to develop."

He said a 200-million-dollar revolving loan fund proposed in the bill could help boost the number of new industries in the area.

Price and Vursell stressed the need for aid to some Illinois areas. Price said he thinks the Douglas bill is "broader and more realistic" than a similar administration plan.

Van Zandt urged approval of some bill, saying he did not care about his authorship.

Reach Agreement In Caterpillar Strike

JOLIET, Ill. — Agreement was reached late Wednesday night between about 3,500 striking machinists and the Caterpillar Tractor Co.

Details of the settlement were not announced.

George Kennedy, a federal mediator, said the company and negotiators for Lodge 851 of the International Association of Machinists reached agreement at a session which ended near midnight.

Kennedy said the union leaders recommended acceptance of the contract when the union members vote on the new proposals at a meeting Friday morning.

The old contract expired Jan. 15 and the walkout stemmed from financial issues.

Two of every three passenger cars and three of every four trucks manufactured in 1954 replaced vehicles that were scrapped.

Benson—at least temporarily—from a group of mid-western Republican congressmen who are clamoring for a government meat floor price under hogs and cattle. The group conferred with Benson Wednesday.

WARREN IS SUBJECT Of Speculation After Ike Remark

WASHINGTON — Chief Justice Earl Warren, the man who insists he won't run for president, was the center of political speculation again today.

Mr. Warren's name has continually come up as one of the top possible candidates to head the Republican ticket if President Eisenhower decides against running. And Mr. Warren has continually insisted he would not run.

But many Republicans have believed that the chief justice could not resist a draft if the principal drafter were Mr. Eisenhower.

Mr. Eisenhower obliquely told newsmen Wednesday how he felt about the possibility of Mr. Warren running for president.

He recalled that he retired from the Army when he entered politics in 1952. And he added:

"We shouldn't get too great a confusion between politics and the Supreme Court."

Many said the President's comment meant he would favor Mr. Warren's candidacy. Many said it meant just the opposite.

Marine Continues Polio March Despite Cold

WEST FRANKFORT, Ill. — Marine S.Sgt. Phillip Hobbs marched on today despite cold weather and blisters to raise more dollars for the March of Dimes.

Hobbs left here for Benton and Christopher, 15 miles away, in 17-degree weather this morning. He was cheered by news that the polio fund is at least $1,670 richer because of his efforts.

Hobbs will hike 100 miles, or more, through four southern Illinois counties by Saturday.

The Marine combat veteran's hike from Marion to West Frankfort Wednesday raised nearly $450. Hobbs covered the 12 miles at a rapid pace, arriving here more than an hour before his estimated 4 p. m. arrival.

Hobbs said his blistered feet weren't bothering him, thanks to treatment given them by a neighbor who is a nurse. And the cold weather is nothing to a Marine who fought in North Korea in the winter of 1950-51.

Greenberg and Cronin Voted To Hall of Fame

NEW YORK (AP)—They swung wide the doors of baseball's Hall of Fame today for one of the men who came closest to breaking Babe Ruth's home run record and the man who commanded the biggest price tag in baseball history. Hammerin' Hank Greenberg, who clouted 58 homers for the Detroit Tigers in 1938, topped all the vote-getters in the annual balloting for the hall announced today by the Baseball Writers Association of America. And Joe Cronin, for whom the Boston Red Sox once paid a reported $250,000 was right behind.

No other former diamond star was able to gain the 145 votes needed for election this year, so only Greenberg and Cronin will be officially conducted into the little shrine at Cooperstown, N. Y., next summer.

"When I was playing ball back in the minors," Greenberg admitted wistfully, "I used to dream that some day I would be named to the Hall of Fame. But I didn't think it could ever happen... I consider it the highest honor of my life."

Cronin is thrilled to be elected to the Hall of Fame along with such greats as Bill Dickey, Al Simmons and Joe DiMaggio, with whom I have played for whom I have great admiration," said Cronin in Boston. "I never dreamed I'd someday be placed in their category."

Greenberg, 45, now is general manager of the Cleveland Indians and Cronin, 49, is general manager of the Red Sox. Their election to the hall, however, was based on their brilliant playing careers.

Knicks, Royals File Protests

By United Press

Two more protests were headed today for the desk of President Maurice Podoloff of the National Basketball Assn.—one from the Rochester Royals and the other from the New York Knickerbockers.

Technical foul calls were the basis of both squawks as the result of games Wednesday night in which the St. Louis Hawks defeated Rochester, 114-106, in St. Louis, and the Minneapolis Lakers defeated the Knicks, 104-95, in Minneapolis.

In other Wednesday games, the Philadelphia Warriors stretched their Eastern Division lead to 4½ games by beating the Syracuse Nationals, 112-100, and the Fort Wayne Pistons increased their Western Division lead to the same amount by nipping the Boston Celtics, 101-100.

Player-coach Bobby Wanzer of Rochester said he was protesting the Royals' loss because of a technical foul called against Ed Fleming of the Royals for not reporting to the official scorer with about five minutes to play. The game had featured a brilliant scoring duel in which rookie Maurice Stokes of the Royals scored 36 points and Bob Pettit scored 33.

Coach Joe Lapchick of the Knicks said he was protesting the Royals' loss on a charge that Referee Bill Bibel changed his decision on a technical foul call against Minneapolis in the third period.

Galatia, Carrier Mills to Meet In Midget Finals

Galatia and host Carrier Mills advanced into the final round of the Midget conference basketball tournament by beating Raleigh and Muddy Wednesday night.

Tonight's session will get underway at 6:30 with the consolation game and the title tilt is listed for 7:45. Following the championship game trophies will be awarded.

Galatia went into the final game by winning 31-22 from Raleigh and Carrier Mills advanced by taking a 72-35 decision from Muddy.

Galatia led Raleigh 4-2 at the quarter, trailed 10-9 at halftime, then raced to a 21-13 third quarter lead and went on to take the decision 31-22.

Carrier Mills was on top in its game all the way, leading 16-3 at the quarter, 36-13 at halftime and 54-25 after three periods of play.

Scoring: Galatia—Boydett 7, Gardner 9, Hefflin 8, Pittman 2, and Sutter 5; Raleigh—Grisham 7, Oglesby 6, Cantrell 9, Wesleye 0, and Barger 0.
Carrier Mills—Taborn 37, Shaw 13, Fitts 6, VanHoy 8, Williams 6, Shelton 2, Green 0, Buckner 0, Prather 0, Murphy 0 and Overstreet 0; Muddy—Penrod 12, Murphy 15, Hicks 2, Podorski 4, Mahaffey 0, Shires 0 and Beasley 0.

Pincks Rout Flora, 76-35; Centralia Wins

By United Press

Pinckneyville's wounded Panthers roared back with a convincing 76-35 rout of Flora Wednesday night to justify their rating as the state's second best prep basketball team.

The Pincks, beaten twice in the last two weeks, completely smothered the Wolves in an opening game of the eight-team Salem Invitational tournament.

In a second game, Centralia loomed past Effingham, 84-64. The tournament runs through Saturday. In other games on a light card, Springfield pasted hapless Urbana, 88-48, and the Gillespie Miners raced to an easy 69-39 triumph over Northwestern Scottville in the Macoupin county tournament.

The Salem tournament and the Pyramid tournament at Herrin starting Friday night top the weekend prep program.

Herrin, which bounded into fourth place in the United Press rankings by defeating Pinckneyville last week, will be host to Marion, West Frankfort and Johnston City.

In the top southwest area game, Edwardsville's 9th ranked Bengals take on 15th ranked Alton. Edwardsville moved into the rankings after surprising strong Collinsville and East St. Louis.

Shawneetown should be a cinch to take its 21st straight victory of the season. The undefeated Indians play Rosiclare, which they already have beaten twice this season.

Rockford West, unanimous choice as the state's top team, tangles with up-and-down Aurora West.

More Than Half of Big Ten Rosters Former Illinois, Indiana Players

CHICAGO (AP)—Fans who argue the best brand of prep basketball is played in Illinois and Indiana can find ample support from the current rosters of Big Ten cage teams.

A check showed today that 94 of the 174 players on the college circuit's 10 teams are products of Illinois and Indiana high schools. That's better than half.

Every team in the conference except Ohio State has a Hoosier player. Only Ohio State and Wisconsin lack an Illinois player.

One reason for the preponderance of Big Ten players from the two states may be the fact that they boast four conference teams—Illinois, Northwestern, Purdue and Indiana.

Sixteen of the 17 players on the Illinois team hail from Illinois high schools, and the 17th is a Hoosier. Northwestern gets 14 of its 22 players from Illinois and 4 from Indiana.

Purdue and Indiana likewise rely mostly on home-grown talent. Purdue's team is made up of 16 Hoosiers and 3 players from Illinois. Indiana got 11 team members from its own state, 3 from neighboring Illinois, and 2 from eastern states.

But the fact that Indiana and Illinois each have two Big Ten teams isn't the only reason for the large number of players from those states on the Big Ten rosters.

Seventh Winter Olympics Open in Tiny Italian Village of Cortina

900 Athletes From 32 Nations Will Participate

CORTINA, Italy (AP)—The seventh Winter Olympiad, already jinxed by a record injury toll and lack of snow, opened today in this tiny village snuggled in the Italian Alps.

The sun, shining in a cloudless blue sky, glinted from the towering crags while more than 900 athletes from a record 32 nations stood at attention in the 13,000-seat ice stadium.

Italian President Giovanni Gronchi pronounced the formal words signalling the opening of the largest winter games ever held:

"I declare open the seventh Olympic Winter Games of Cortina D'Ampezzo, celebrating the 16th Olympiad of modern era."

Guido Caroli swung into the stadium, carrying the Olympic flame that had been carried from the temple of Jupiter atop Rome's Capitoline Hill by plane, automobile, gondola and relays of runners. Caroli, last of the men who had carried the torch over the Alps from Treviso, circled the stadium and let the Olympic flame on its special podium.

Woman Recites Oath
Then Giuliana Chenal Minuzzo, a pretty mother who holds one of Italy's ladies skiing titles, became the first woman to recite the solemn Olympic oath in the modern games:

"We swear that we will take part in the Olympic Games in fair competition, respecting the regulations which govern them and with the desire to participate in the true spirit of sportsmanship for the glory of sport and for the honor of our country."

Among the athletes for whom she recited the oath were 65 Soviets. The Russians are favored to win the unofficial team championship although they are competing in the winter games for the first time.

James Bickford, a husky bobsled driver from Saranac Lake, N. Y., carried the U. S. flag in the ceremony.

The athletes and various team officials lined up for the opening parade in the narrow streets of this famed ski town. The streets—like the ski runs—were covered with snow delivered not from the skies but by snow shovels.

Cortina hasn't had a good snow fall in three weeks. Until Wednesday the streets were bare and the ski runs so icy and rockstrewn that experts warned that next week's downhill ski run could be "a race of death."

However, the only events scheduled today were two hockey matches pitting Italy against Austria and Canada against Germany.

Greece Heads Parade
In the impressive, flag-waving parade of nations, the teams lined up with Greece, as originator of the games, at the head of the procession. Other countries followed in Italian alphabetical order, with host Italy bringing up the rear.

East and West Germany were represented by a single team and marched under a single banner.

Ban Photos in Senate Gymnasium

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Rules Committee has decreed that no photographs may be taken in the gymnasium and Turkish bath maintained for senators in the Senate Office Building.

Sen. Theodore Francis Green of Rhode Island, 88-year-old chairman of the Rules Committee, is a regular patron of the swimming pool. Pictures taken in the gym could be a "horrible example," he said.

Fight Results

By United Press
NORFOLK, Va. — Joey Giambrone, 158, Buffalo, N. Y., outpointed Al Andrews, 161½, Superior, Wis. (10).

This prompted Avery Brundage of Chicago, president of the International Olympic Committee, to remark that "in the field of sport we have succeeded where the politicians failed."

Officially, the Olympics are not a contest between nations but between individuals and teams. But unofficially, most experts agree that Russia is the nation to beat in these games.

For their return to the winter games, the Russians have the largest squad of the competing teams—114 officials, helpers and athletes. And although they have suffered six of the 29 injuries in pre-game workouts, they are favored to win six of the 24 gold medals at stake.

Dodgers Sign Campanella For $42,000

By United Press

The Brooklyn Dodgers had their fun when they won the first world championship in their history — and now they're paying the piper in the form of record-breaking salaries.

Catcher Roy Campanella, the National League's "most valuable player," ranks as the highest-paid "Bum" in history by virtue of the $42,000 pact he signed Wednesday. And Dodger officials realized today they will have to shell out a lot more money to get their roster all signed.

"I've got some more guys to sign," said club Vice-President E. J. (Buzzie) Bavasi with a wry grin, "including Duke Snider."

Snider, clouting star of the World Series when he smashed four homers, will also command big money and Bavasi still must deal with Carl Furillo and the bulk of the pitching staff. However, big money men Gil Hodges, Pee Wee Reese, Don Newcombe, and now Campy are signed.

Campanella, winner of the MVP award for the third time in his career, is the first Dodger ever to top $40,000. He batted .318, drove in 107 runs, walloped 32 homers, 20 doubles, and one triple. Unlike this time a year ago, when he was worried about making a comeback after a hand operation, Campanella reported he's in top shape.

Mike Higgins, voted American League "Manager of the Year" honors, has been rewarded with a new three-year contract by the Boston Red Sox. Higgins' original pact, which would run through this year, called for a reported $25,000 a year.

Salem Firefighters Win Bowling Games But Lose Out to Blaze

SALEM, Ill. (AP)—Salem firemen were more successful at the Salem Bowl Wednesday night than they were this morning.

The fire department's team won three games at the bowling alley Wednesday night but this morning a fire in the six-lane alley destroyed the building and contents. The loss is estimated at about $30,000.

The fire is believed to have started in the hot air heating system.

Jenner Asks Withdrawal Of Name from Illinois Presidential Primary

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—Sen. William E. Jenner (R-Ind) today wired Secretary of State Charles F. Carpenter that he wishes to withdraw his name from the Illinois presidential primary.

Carpenter's office said a withdrawal form had been sent to Jenner since a person cannot withdraw by wire.

Jenner's withdrawal would leave three Republicans, including President Eisenhower and Sen. William F. Knowland of California, and Democrat Adlai E. Stevenson in the April 10 primary.

Jenner was entered in the primary by perennial office-seeker Lar Daly, of Chicago, who also entered himself in the Republican presidential primary.

Eisenhower Asks $250 Million for Health

Mr. Eisenhower today is almost identical with two Democratic-sponsored bills which the administration declined to support in Congress last year. Informed sources said the policy shift can be attributed to Marion B. Folsom, who succeeded Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby as health secretary a few months ago.

The Democratic bills would provide about 60 million dollars a year—compared with Mr. Eisenhower's proposal of 50 million dollars a year—for medical schools and research construction.

Expand Health Insurance

Mr. Eisenhower said there is an urgent need for expanding voluntary health insurance coverage to provide more Americans with protection "against the costs of long-term or other especially expensive illness, which can be a financial catastrophe for many families."

Those particularly needing better coverage, he said, are elderly people, those living in rural areas and the self-employed who are not reached in group plans.

He said he is considering legislation which would permit private insurance companies to pool their risks to "offer broader benefits and expanded coverage on reasonable terms."

But he warned as he did in his budget message that if this idea doesn't work out, he will again ask Congress to enact his twice-shelved plan for federal "reinsurance" of private health policies.

Other highlights of the health message:

Research: He called for a federal outlay of $126,525,000 during the coming fiscal year to expand medical research particularly in such illnesses as cancer, heart disease and mental illness.

Polio: Requested extension of the free federal polio vaccine program which expires Feb. 15 and asked 30 million dollars to finance it. Hearings are already in progress in Congress.

Hospitals: Recommended two-year extension of the Hill-Burton Hospital Construction Act. He also asked for 130 million dollars to finance the program in the year beginning July 1, a 19-million-dollar increase over this year.

Medical Costs: He repeated his recommendations for a special federal program of matching grants to help states and communities care for the aged, the blind, the permanently and totally disabled and dependent children. He also urged health insurance for federal employees and improved medical care for dependents of servicemen.

Pollution: He urged strengthening of the water pollution control law and said it should be put on a permanent basis to help states and industry deal with the problem. He asked a substantial increase in funds to "broaden the research attack on problems of air pollution."

Health Personnel: He said there are "serious shortages" of trained people in such specialties as psychiatry, pediatrics, physical rehabilitation, dentistry and nursing. He renewed last year's recommendation for legislation to provide training aid for nurses and public health specialists.

Mental Illness: He renewed his previous plea for a large-scale federal grant program to improve the quality of care in mental institutions.

MADRAS, India (UP)—During the past week in Madras I have seen India at its fascinating best, for Madras is a city of startling contrasts.

Here is a vacationer's paradise with bright sun, a nearly cloudless sky and temperatures which in January rarely reach 90 or drop below 70, even at night.

En route to a beach we drove past maharajahs' palaces and tiny grass mud huts. We saw modern trucks and scores of two-wheeled wooden carts pulled by cattle.

Gaudy movie theater marquees advertise American films next to tiny shops dispensing ancient herbal medicines.

Out of this welter of sights and sounds several impressions have formed in my mind:

First, I believe the people of India love and respect America. Everywhere I found people enthusiastically friendly. I have gone into tiny villages, met them in churches, shops and restaurants. They go out of their way to demonstrate kindness, hospitality and affection.

In all my travels I have never experienced anything like this. People brought many small gifts but more than their gifts I have appreciated their smiles, for when an Indian smiles his entire face lights up.

The people's interest has been reflected by the attendance at our meetings in Madras. The evening public meetings averaged approximately 35,000 attendance. The 7 a. m. meetings for ministers averaged more than 8,000.

The second impression is that the same simple message of salvation through Christ such as I have preached in America and Europe is eagerly received here as well. Although the culture is vastly different, the basic problem of spiritual hunger is identical.

At the Madras meetings we saw more than 5,000 persons respond to the invitation to commit their lives to Christ.

The third impression was that we Americans need more personal contact with the people of India. They are hungry to know us and our country. Eighty-eight per cent cannot read newspapers and all they know is what they hear others say.

More Industry Predicted for Ohio Valley Area

NEW YORK (AP)—The world's first fully integrated aluminum plant will be built near Clarington, Ohio and industry leaders are saying the project will be followed by still more large-scale industrial developments in the Ohio Valley.

Olin Mathieson Chemical Corp. announced it is entering aluminum production with construction of facilities that will be turning out 60,000 tons of aluminum annually some time in 1957.

When the project is completed, Olin Mathieson will be in fourth place as a domestic producer at an initial cost of 120 million dollars.

Philip Sporn, president of American Gas & Electric Co., a participant in the giant project, said he expects further developments in "aluminum and other chemical, electrochemical and electrometallurgical operations" in the Ohio Valley.

Sporn's company will be providing power for the project through coal mined directly or the site of a new power plant to be located slightly upstream of Clarington on the West Virginia side of the Ohio River near Cresap Bottom.

Farm Equipment Dealers to Present Soil District Film

Most of the farm equipment dealers in Saline county are cooperating with the Saline County Soil Conservation district in efforts to inform more people of the work of the district.

Alva A. Gholson, president of the Saline district, states that the equipment dealers will hold meetings at their places of business at which time a movie showing the work of a district will be shown. All meetings will begin at 7 p. m. on the following dates:

January 30—Farmers Supply Co., Harrisburg.

January 31—Riegel Farm Equipment Sales, Harrisburg.

February 1—Saline Implement Co., Eldorado.

February 2—Mitchell Tractor Sales, Harrisburg.

February 6—Scherrer Equipment Co., Eldorado.

These equipment dealers will be host to their customers and friends and will present a program of their own in addition to the showing of the Soil Conservation district film.

Attend the meeting of your choice and enjoy the hospitality of these fine equipment dealers. At the same time become more familiar with the Saline County Soil Conservation district program.

DEMOCRATIC HOPEFULS: Harriman Follows FDR Pattern; Has Hopes He Will Be Compromise Candidate

Editor's Note: This is the third in a series on the Democratic presidential hopefuls.

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON — Closest to the Roosevelt pattern among the three most discussed Democratic presidential hopefuls this year is Gov. Averell Harriman of New York.

Harriman is an "inactive"—so he is described—candidate for the nomination. He is a son of great wealth and, like FDR, benefits from the aggressive business triumphs of his forebears.

Harriman is 64 years old. That is a handicap in a contest with younger men before an electorate acutely aware now of the importance of a president surviving the term to which he has been elected.

His reach for the Democratic nomination in 1952 was a failure beyond mere defeat. It was from Harriman's young, over-enthusiastic and aggressively New Deal supporters that the move came in 1952 to toss some old timers out of the convention. Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan was coyly in the background of that movement.

No Political Weakling
Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., the late president's son, was among

Metropolis Man Launches Campaign For Congress

Samuel (Jack) Scott

Samuel (Jack) Scott, attorney of Metropolis, actively launched his campaign this week for Representative in Congress from the 25th Congressional district. He is a Republican.

Mr. Scott was born and reared on a farm in Pope county, where he attended rural elementary and high school. He is a graduate of Southern Illinois university, receiving a Bachelor of Education degree. He taught in the rural schools of Pope county, and also in the Golconda Community high school for several years.

Mr. Scott is also a graduate of the University of Illinois Law college. He is licensed to practice before Illinois, U. S. District and Supreme Courts. He has practiced law extensively in Illinois and Federal courts.

During World War II he served as a Special Agent of the Federal Bureau of Investigation for six years, receiving a War Certificate of Merit from J. Edgar Hoover upon his resignation and return to law practice.

Subsequently Mr. Scott served two and a half years in the Foreign Service of the U. S. Department of State as Political Attache in the American Embassy at Karachi, Pakistan. During this period he traveled and worked in the various countries of Europe, the Middle East and Asia. In addition he served several years with the U. S. Central Intelligence Agency in the United States and overseas doing work similar to that which he had done for the F.B.I. during the war.

Mr. Scott is married and has two sons.

the leaders as was the late Blair Moody of Michigan, then U. S. senator. These young men took on such party figures as Sen. Harry F. Byrd, Virginia, and elder statesman James F. Byrnes, South Carolina. But it was Moody, Roosevelt and company who went to the woodshed in the end.

Conservative Southerners will not have forgotten that this year. Neither will they overlook Harriman's recent statement that there is no room in the Democratic Party for moderation. Such things add up against him.

Harriman is no political weakling, however. Since 1952 he has established himself as a professional politician by winning New York's governorship against one of the smartest campaigners in the Republican Party, Sen. Irving M. Ives.

Carmine De Sapio, new boss of New York's new Tammany Hall, is master-minding Harriman's inactive pre-convention campaign. De Sapio is a soft spoken, friendly and attractive man with political skill. But his campaign efforts outside New York State have not produced much.

On his home grounds, De Sapio has lined up the state organization in good shape. But a New York citizens' committee for Adlai E. Stevenson, sparked by Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, among others, has been set up and is flourishing.

Of today's top flight Democrats, Harriman was mostly closely associated with the Roosevelt and Truman administrations. He was the only 100 per cent I-love-Harry Fair Deal candidate in 1952. Some of his most publicized services for Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Truman had to do with the Soviet Union.

This has not rubbed off on Harriman, however. He was at Yalta. But there is no record that Harriman ever was much taken in by the Communists or that he failed sturdily to call fouls on them when others in the administration did not.

Harriman has announced that he will enter no presidential primaries. His only hope is that Stevenson and Sen. Estes Kefauver knock each other out, opening the way for a compromise candidate.

Introduces Bill To Abolish Bridge Group

WASHINGTON —Rep. Winfield K. Denton (D-Ind.) introduced a bill today to abolish the White County Bridge Commission and turn the operation of its toll bridge over to the Federal Bureau of Public Roads.

Denton is chairman of a select House committee investigating the commission which operates the bridge across the Wabash river from New Harmony, Ind., to White County, Ill.

The General Accounting Office has questioned the propriety of some of the payments by the bridge commission to the Carmi, Ill., Publishing Co. Roy Clipping, manager of the bridge, is also president, editor and general manager of the publishing company. He is a former Republican congressman.

Denton said the committee plans further hearings in Indiana in mid-February. Denton said his investigation had "clearly shown a need for remedial legislation." Under his bill, the Public Roads Bureau could turn the bridge over to any state agency in Illinois or Indiana, including specifically the Indiana Toll Bridge Commission.

14,609 Speeders Arrested by State Police During 1955

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. — State Highway Police arrested 14,609 speeders during 1955, Superintendent Phil M. Brown reported today.

Brown said that the vehicle total was divided into 8,451 automobiles, 5,967 trucks and 191 busses.

Speeding vehicles detected by radar accounted for 371 arrests on the Edens Expressway and 625 arrests on the Calumet Expressway. Both superhighways are located in Cook county.

Arrests made by State Highway Police last year totaled 83,814, an average of 229.6 a day. Arrests by 14 black, unmarked cars—one in each district—accounted for 6,258 of the total.

During 1944, State Highway Police made 55,810 arrests, averaging 147.4 daily. Of the 9,009 speeding arrests made in 1954, 4,577 were automobiles, 4,295 were trucks and 137 were busses.

LOCAL INSURANCE AGENCY RECEIVES HONORS—The insurance agency of Robertson and Ghent, Harrisburg, was awarded a plaque and has received numerous letters of congratulations from officers of the Aetna Casualty and Surety Co., for completing 35 years' association with the company. Sunday, Jan. 22, marked the 35th year of association with the company by the local agency and Saturday O. G. H. Hahn, special agent for Aetna's St. Louis branch office, came to Harrisburg and presented the plaque to Robertson and Ghent. Letters of congratulations were received from M. B. Brainard, president and Austin D. Bryan, secretary, from the home offices in Hartford, Conn., and Howard Blair, manager of the St. Louis branch office. Accompanying Hahn to Harrisburg was Tom Hays, representing the surety section of the Aetna St. Louis office. Aetna first was represented in Harrisburg by the late J. C. Robertson, who was later joined by his son, George. The firm was later known as Robertson, Crecelius and Ghent. Mr. Crecelius died two years ago. ## Spring Fashions Pairs Hosiery, Hemlines

Dorris Heights Home Bureau Unit Meets

With Mrs. Leo Fowler
The Dorris Heights unit of Home Bureau met at the home of Mrs. Leo Fowler on Dorris Heights road for its regular business Tuesday, Jan. 24, at 7 p. m.

The meeting was called to order by the chairman, Mrs. Barney Aase. Roll call was answered by telling "family goals for 1956." There were 17 members and three visitors, Mrs. Herman Conover, Mrs. Lionel Luster and Mrs. Waldo Bapley, present.

Plans were made to hold a white elephant auction with each member bringing something to be auctioned at the next meeting which will be Feb. 28 at the home of Mrs. Renaldo Matthews.

The home adviser, Mrs. Harry Harper, announced schools for learning silk screen painting, metal etching and the final two days for reupholstering.

The lesson on "Window Treatment" was given by Mrs. Harper. Mrs. Lucian Pankey, recreation chairman, conducted an amusing quiz to help each member "Cure Bad Habits."

Two new members, Mrs. Conover and Mrs. Luster, were welcomed into the unit.

Refreshments were served by the hostess.

Mrs. Charles Rauh Hostess To Euzelean Class

The Euzelean class of the First Baptist church met at the home of Mrs. Charles Rauh for the January party.

After the regular business meeting the devotion was given by Mrs. Ralph Woolard who discussed 10 rules for better living.

Games were played with Kenneth Childers winning each time. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Rauh assisted by Mrs. Elmer Tallas and Mrs. Earl Kilburn, to Mrs. John Sligham, Mrs. Phillips Nyberg, Mrs. Kenneth Childers, Mrs. Virgil Cline, Mrs. Ronnie Doerge, Mrs. Ralph Woolard, and Mrs. Laura Cummins, the teacher.

Loyal Workers Ladies' Bible Class Holds Regular Meeting

The Loyal Workers Ladies' Bible class of Buena Vista met Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Ruth Pickford.

The meeting opened with the song "Pass Me Not" followed with prayer by Mrs. Tess Rogers. Other songs sung were "Everybody Ought to Know Jesus" and "The Way of the Cross Leads Home." After roll call and the reading of the minutes, Mrs. Lula Hughes gave the devotion, taken from Psalms 71.

A program committee was appointed, consisting of Mrs. Mary Shell, Mrs. Ethel Blue and Mrs. Lois Buchanan. The meeting was dismissed with prayer by Mrs. Ethel Blue.

The birthday of Mrs. Orpha Wagner was remembered by the members of the class. Prizes were won by Mrs. Ethel Blue, Mrs. Barbara McConnell and Mrs. Mildred Smith. Mrs. Lula Hughes won the door prize.

Others present were Mrs. Ruth Pryor, Mrs. Julia Mae Dunn, Mrs. Gertie Ohl and Mrs. Nell Denny. The next meeting will be Feb. 16 at the home of Mrs. Mary Shell. Everyone is to make a Valentine.

XXXIII
Captain Proctor sat with his chin sunk to his stock. His blunt fingers gradually bent a spoon beside his plate. Before he spoke, he looked at both Jered and Phoebe.

"You went pretty far," he said, "asking this South Sea Islander to dinner. But I'll talk to your mother, Phoebe. He pushed back his chair. 'Ma'am, we can leave the table?'"

"Yes, why, yes," Mrs. Proctor said, sitting very still. Jered kissed Phoebe before her family in the hall. He thanked Mrs. Proctor and the Captain for dinner, went down the steps to the street with his father. He found only a few sentences for his father on the way home to Derby Street. It was very hard to make conversation.

But his father's taciturn habit held. They spoke shortly and of ordinary things. Then, after they had entered the house, his father squeezed his shoulder and said, "Good to have you home, son. Sleep well. Get me a new house-keeper better than the old seagull. You'll find your room clean."

"It's fine to be home, sir," he said. "But I think I'll sit by the fire and have a grog for a nightcap. You go ahead and pile in." He sat taut-legged on the settle by the fire until he heard the clunk of boots being dropped to the floor. He drank the last of the rum at a gulp.

The costume Phoebe wore when she joined him the next morning was all dove gray from bonnet to slippers, and her fur-lined cape was turned up around her ears. "You look like a Puritan," Naish told her, "except for the cape."

"I don't feel that way," she said, then blushed. "Tell me, did Kai leave a woman behind him in the islands?"

"He's a widower," Naish said. "His wife died while he was bringing her from Mangaia to his atoll. Kai is entirely free."

"Good," Phoebe said. "Because Salem isn't the town for him, Jered. The folks of color don't have an easy time here."

"I know," Naish said. "I reckoned it hadn't changed."

"But what are you going to do with him?"

"Keep him as my first mate in any ship I may take."

"Your father and my own," she said. "They won't much like the idea of Kai as your mate."

"Then the blazes with them."

"Sure, dear heart." She took his hand and tightly gripped it. "Sure, I agree."

***

The wharfinger sat in his shack with just his nose showing over his pea coat collar and he blinked bleary-eyed when Naish said good morning. The ship was dismal in the dawn.

Kai's dark brown, very bright eyes widened when he saw Phoebe. "The captain is with you?" he said.

"Right behind," she said. "Did you pass a good night?"

"All right," he said. "Some boozers tried to come aboard, but I chased them off. There was a big fight on the dock. The watch came and put them in the brig. But sit down, please, miss. Drink some tea. It's hot and fresh."

"If you're Jered's friend, Kai," she said rapidly, "you must call me by my first name. It is Phoebe. No more 'Miss' or anything like that."

Naish was down the ladder and Kai stared at him with an openly demanding glance. Naish grinned. "Listen to her," he said, "and not to me. She gives the orders about such a matter."

"You see, Kai," Phoebe said. She had gone to the pantry rack and taken down mugs. She poured the tea. "Now let me have the key to the galley, Jered, and I'll begin breakfast. There should be enough flour for hot-cakes."

"There is," Jered said. He handed her his key ring, then turned to Kai. "Who tried to come aboard last night?"

"Men," Kai said slowly, "who told me I shouldn't be mate of this ship."

***

The dinner was long, meticulously served, with a roast of beef, burgundy and claret and at the end a deep-dish pie. But the conversation was maintained only by Jered, Phoebe and Kai. The Proctors and Philip Naish during their rare moments of speech talked among themselves on subjects wholly unknown to Kai. Mrs. Proctor gave evidence of her embarrassment when in offering him more beef she mispronounced his name and let slip her wine goblet. After Captain Proctor asked permission for the men to leave the room she rose at once and went upstairs.

"Take Kai in and play him some music," Jered said to Phoebe. "I'd like to have a bit of time with my father and yours. You don't mind, gentlemen?"

"Not at all, sir," Captain Proctor said stiffly. "Let us go to the library."

Jered faced them quietly in front of the library fire, his rage too profound for any expression of violence. They had discussed Kai with him at the counting-house today and he had believed he'd won his point, for they'd agreed to keep Kai on as mate at least until the Obis was discharged. "I've told you," he said, "I owe him an enormous and lasting debt. So do you in some share. And he's my friend for life."

"Jered, be reasonable," his father said gently. "Sit down and listen to me. We don't deny a word you say about the Indian fella. That's all understood. But we sail ships out of this port near once a month. If news was passed around that we were carrying a yellow-skin as mate, we'd lose 'out fast."

BROKEN HOMES—TWISTED LIVES Frightening Harvest Of Black Market Babies

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — America has begun to reap a frightening harvest of broken homes, twisted lives and juvenile delinquents from the vicious black market in babies which has been growing in the U. S. for the past 10 years.

Lack of federal curbs on an interstate traffic in infants and loose state adoption laws are responsible, experts declare.

The disastrous human results from chronic abuse of adoption procedures are now revealed by Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.) and by the files of the U. S. Children's Bureau.

Here are some typical cases of what is happening in thousands of American homes today.

In an attempt to bolster his childless marriage a California lawyer "bought" a baby from an adoption ring in the East for $2,000. For the first few months the baby did bring the couple closer.

But when the novelty wore off, quarrels over care of the child became frequent and bitter. To solve this problem they left the baby with friends and went abroad.

The child was shunted to three different families and ended up in a welfare home. It is still there, in an emotionally disturbed condition.

Discovery of what had happened in their absence helped precipitate a divorce. Now no one wants the child and a marriage is wrecked.

Buying an infant to please a neurotic wife or in hopes of having a shaky marriage are the most common motives exploited by the baby black market.

More than 150,000 children are estimated to have been involved in this racket in recent years. A successful result is rare.

Another typical category is the case of the New York businessman who bought a baby in Chicago for $3,500 through a "friend." It took the couple three heart-breaking years to confirm their growing suspicion that the child was mentally retarded.

The shock gave the wife a nervous breakdown from which she has never recovered. The man retired to care for his wife. The child is with relatives, a great handicap to their family life.

Hundreds of couples are making the agonizing discovery that children they have gotten illegally are blind, deaf, not normal or of a different race.

Here's another type of popular illegal adoption gimmick: A prospective unwed mother checks into a hospital under the name of the woman who will take custody of the child. This gives a forged birth certificate but avoids adoption procedures.

Usually trouble results. The husband of one couple who used this device died when the child was six. In contesting the man's will relatives revealed to the court what the couple had done.

The scandal sent the heartbroken widow to a sanitarium, forcing the child to be sent to a home. He's still there, in a state of emotional shock while the case continues to be fought in court.

Vote in Gallatin County Feb. 4 to Elect School Board

Saturday, Feb. 4, there will be an election held in Gallatin county to elect a board of education for the recently approved unit school district. The unit takes in the townships of Shawnee, Gold Hill and Bowlesville.

There are seven members to be elected and 16 candidates. Statutes provide that no township may have more than three members on the board.

Candidates filing with County Superintendent of Schools Horace Brown are: Gold Hill township—Fred Logsdon, Charles I. Oldham.

way could have been the rare case of a couple making a successful home for a loving young boy, now four. But the father told an investigator of the Kefauver committee:

"The constant fear that we will be exposed has wrecked my health and has been a club over our lives."

Still another tragic case is where the mother who gives up a child to the black market changes her mind years later and attempts to regain custody of the boy or girl.

Court action which results is brutal to everyone concerned. In one case it caused a 10-year-old lad to attempt suicide. Many youths caught in this emotional web have become delinquents.

The need for better state laws on adoption and federal laws to halt the interstate character of this black market is obvious if this growing cancer in American life is to be arrested.
